

LOOK OUT, CHICAGO!

THE YOUNG GIANT CITIES OF THE GREATER WEST ARE MAKING YOUR MERCHANTS HUMP THEMSELVES.

In Chicago to Pass Through the Experience of Cincinnati—New York Merchants Declare that it Looks So Now, and that that's Why Marshall Field Cut Rates in his City a Way—It is a Great War of Jobbers that is Now Going On, but Both are Merchants, say They Who Write.

From the Evening Star.

"We have always controlled the Western markets, and we propose to continue to do so," said Chicago's greatest dry goods merchant, Marshall Field, the other day to a reporter of the Chicago Herald. There is nothing new in this statement, not even its arrogance. But the circumstances under which it was uttered mark an era in the history of Chicago. It was the last despairing assumption of a power no longer possessed. In plain language, Chicago has lost her "trip" on the markets of the West.

When Bishop Berkeley uttered his famous apothegm that "Westward the course of empire takes its way," he had not thought of Chicago. It was not until the middle of the last century that the phrase had a wider applicability than over the metaphysical Bishop dreamed of. The usual proof of its truth was found in the communities of the Atlantic seaboard of North America.

It has passed that era, and it is now being carried forward by the young energy of the Western pioneers until it reached Cincinnati. From this point it took a sudden leap to Chicago, where it has stayed for many years, so long, in fact, that Chicago thought its final resting place was found at last. Chicago still thinks so.

Once again it begins its journey, this time plunging into the great West itself. Its last habitation is wrapped in the mists of the future. What combinations of climate, topography, and men will raise that great city in the center of this continent, in which the phrase will at last and a great victory, reach its still its course is onward, past the great lakes and toward the great mountains.

Many a story is told of Western towns, row by row, modest and unassuming, until the "boom." Each was to be the terminus of a great railway system, or at least, the junction of several. Several of these towns, however, a railway terminus was placed in such a town, and the town was built. Then the boom struck it with full force. Then the boom was over, and the town was left a wreck. The boom was over, and the town was left a wreck. The boom was over, and the town was left a wreck.

Chicago is not a town, but a city. It is not a town, but a city. It is not a town, but a city.

IN THE FIELD OF INDUSTRY.

NOTES FOR THE HOST OF WORKERS
HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Labor in Its Several Branches. The Action of Workmen's Organizations—Relations of the Employers—The Festivities that Lighten the Tools of Toil.

The eight-hour agitation, which is to be conducted throughout the year under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor, will be opened in this city at a mass meeting next Friday, Washington's Birthday. The plan of action was adopted at a conference of the twenty-five trade unions, similar meetings will be held on the same day in all the chief cities of the United States. The workers who are familiar with the subject are in demand everywhere, from Boston to San Francisco.

Major Grant has repeatedly asked the Commissioners of Immigration to make him a contract laborer being imported from Europe, and to make him a contract laborer being imported from Europe, and to make him a contract laborer being imported from Europe.

It was a notable attempt to reconcile hostile labor organizations that was made last week at the conference of rival leaders in Philadelphia. The nature of the attempt was judged by the fact that among those who came together were Powderly of the Federation of Labor, Leahy of the Brotherhood of Carpenters,
Leahy of the Brotherhood of Carpenters,
Leahy of the Brotherhood of Carpenters.

There has been a heavy increase of the membership of the silk workers' union of New Jersey, brought about by the recent strike. The surplus labor in this line of skilled industry is less than it is in some other branches.

An English-speaking branch of the Bakers' Union has been organized in New York City.
Its object is to promote unionism, to help redress grievances, shorten the hours of work, and improve the condition of the bakers.

The organized cloak and suit operators of this city have joined the Journeymen Tailors' National Union. The union is a body of the country, and trying to secure practical advantages for its members.

Many of the old-time settlers of Pennsylvania are regretting the death of their comrade, Charles W. Smith, who died last week. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Historical and Geological Survey, and a member of the Pennsylvania Historical and Geological Survey.

A new organization, possessing social, athletic and literary features, has been organized under the title of The New York City Foreignborners' Club.

There was a merry evening of dances at the ball given last Friday evening by the Association of the Sons of the American Revolution. The event was a success, and the proceeds were used for the benefit of the Association.

The protest of the labor organizations of New York against the repeal of the Saturday half-holiday law will soon be heard in the Legislature of this State.

On the 1st of March there will be an annual meeting of the three organizations in this city, the United Hebrew Trades, the United Textile Workers, and the United Garment Workers.

The United Hebrew Trades of this city are giving aid in the establishment of a Hebrew school in New York City. The school is being established in New York City.

There is a bill before the New York Legislature for the appointment of a State Mining Inspector. The bill is for the appointment of a State Mining Inspector.

The Clifton Cattle Association of this city will hereafter publish a list of the union establishments in their trade, and copies of it will be sent to the labor organizations.

The New York Farmers' Union has been able to make a donation from its treasury to every unemployed member.

The Coopers' Union of New York and Brooklyn has signed a treaty of reciprocity which will be advantageous all around, even to the employers.

The revolvers from the Knights of Labor are organizing another body under the same name that is to be used in absolute secrecy. The leaders have begun their secret work.

There is a Trade Mark bill before the New Jersey Legislature that is supported by the State Federation of Trades. It is likely to be passed.

The Saturday Half-holiday bill that has been before the Legislature of Pennsylvania was defeated in the State Senate.
